

IN.CONTRO

Renowned on account of its beauty and versatility, the charm of travertine marble has remained unchanged and finds a new means through which to dialogue with architectural design through the IN.CONTRO porcelain stoneware created by Cercom. The collection brings together the exquisite nuances of the materials extracted from different quarries and interprets, in the IN and CONTROL variants, the evocative textures revealed by the marble, depending on the direction of the cut.

The cloudy appearance of the cross cut and the characteristic streaks of the vein cut coexist in the IN.CONTRO project, sharing a chromatic range of decidedly contemporary neutral tones. IN and CONTROL enable pleasant pairings in the name of a sober and elegant décor and are particularly suited to enhancing design mood boards when mixed with other materials and colours.

The sizes and finishes of the collection distinguish between IN and CONTROL to make the most of the two surfaces, with proposals for interiors and exteriors that aim to meet the needs of residential and commercial design.
